TRAIN WRECKS AUTO CARRYING PARTY TO WORK IN COLUMBUS

Three Men and

BODIES MANGLED
Second Fatal Crash
at Point Within Year.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 23.—Three men and a woman were killed here early today when a Big Four passenger train demolished their automobile at the Hudson avenue crossing in the north end of town. One automobile had stopped at the crossing and the other car rolled around it and entered on the crossing, presumably having failed to see the watchman signaling it to stop.

Car Carried 100 Feet.
The names of the dead were given as Joe Cerva, Angel Fondana, Joe Servo, and the woman, Josephine Servo.

All were employed by a construction company and were on their way to work. All were residents of Columbus.

The bodies of the victims were badly mangled. The car was carried about 100 feet down the tracks.

The woman killed in the crash is believed to be the daughter of Joe Servo.

This is the second fatal crash that has occurred at the crossing within a year. One man was killed recently when a train struck his auto.

A Poor Railroad Scheme

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

GEORGE REMUS demonstrated adaptation to environment by making $1,000,000 at bootlegging, he murdered his wife, shooting her down despite pitiful appeals of mercy.

Remus told a Cincinnati jury, of men and women, that frantic jealousy of a Mr. Dodge made him insane at the shooting moment.

The jury on the first ballot acquitted him and when Remus after acquittal was safely in his cell, and appropriately in tears, members of the jury rushed to shake his hand and congratulate him.

He may have to go to the insane asylum for a little while to prove his good faith.

CRIME is a puzzling phenomenon. Hickman was a model boy in his Sunday school class, vice president of his high school class. The graduation annual said of him: "Excellent scholastic standing, unequalled record in curriculum activities and a high standard of ideals."

HICKMAN is thought to have kidnaped the little girl.

School Pals Defend Suspect in Killing

Students and Mother and Sister Tell of Odds
Overcome by William Edward Hickman
Accused in Parker Child's Death.

By J. C. Johnson.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 23.—A boy who, against unfair odds, worked his way through school, and was graduated from high school with highest scholastic honors—

A boy who worshipped his mother—
A boy who was not afraid of work—
A boy who was highly popular—
A boy who wanted to become a minister—

That, in brief, is William Edward Hickman, 19-year-old youth, as he is known here. Kansas City knows nothing but good concerning him.

It seemed impossible Hickman would become the subject of a nationwide search as the suspected kidnaper and fiendish slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker, Los Angeles girl, whose mutilated body was hurled at the feet of her father, Perry Parker, banker, who handed the brutal murder $1,500 ransom for the return of his daughter.

All Stand By Him.

The youth's mother, sister, teachers and friends in Kansas City have hesitated to believe the model student here is the Los Angeles murderer.

"My boy never could have done anything such as they say he did," said Mrs. Eva Hickman. "It's a terrible mistake, and he will be cleared. He always was a good boy."

At the Central High school, where Edward was graduated in June, 1925, with high honors, Otto F. Dubach, principal of the institution, Hickman's personal friend and adviser, doubts the theory of Los Angeles police that the youth committed the crime.

"Edward Hickman was one of the finest boys that ever attended Central High school," said Principal Dubach. "I can't believe he could be capable of this cruel crime of which he is being accused."

"We all liked 'Hickey.' We thought he had a great future before him. He was earnest, hard working, and intelligent."

With his three brothers he played at dances in order to pay his way through school. He played the court ball from $1,200 to $1,800 a year was passed supposedly on second reading with Farrall, Kelly and Poole opposing it, but following adjournment of council President Kerr ruled that the measure had been passed on but one reading despite records of Clerk Arthur Shone showing a second reading. Kerr asserted that the ordinance read at last Thursday's meeting carried the emergency clause, and that it failed to receive the needed five votes. He contended that the measure, with the emergency stricken out was a new piece of legislation and that it therefore had been passed on but one reading instead of two.

The Farrall-Kelly-Poole combination also opposed the request of firemen, oilers and filterhouse men at the water works plant for a $5 wage scale. The salary-increasing ordinance for these workers was passed, however, on first reading with Hayes, Hughes, Goodballet and Kommel supporting the measure.

Alleged Killer Names Pal and Girl After He Admits Kidnaping

Suspected Murderer of Little Marion Parker of Los Angeles, Captured After Sensational Automobile Dash Into Northwest From Crime Scene, Faces Fresh Grilling.

BETRAYS IN CONVERSATION WITH GUARD KNOWLEDGE OF MUTILATION

Despite His Charge That Brutal Work Was Done by Others, Prisoner Makes Admissions to Jailer Indicating he Knows More of Plot in Which Banker's Daughter Was Victim.

By Richard Rummel.

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 23.—Betraying in casual conversation with a guard knowledge of the brutal mutilation of little Marion Parker of Los Angeles, whose kidnaping he has already confessed, William Edward Hickman, today faced a fresh grilling at the hands of authorities.

OFFICERS AWAKEN "THE FOX" AFTER REPOSE OF EXHAUSTION

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 23.—Sleeping the youthful repose of exhaustion, William Edward Hickman, "The Fox" had to be awakened for breakfast by officers today.

The kindly but stern men who are guarding the boy prisoner waited until 8:20 before they awakened Hickman.

Then they brought him a breakfast of egg sandwiches and coffee.

"I'm sure hungry," he said as he waded into the morning repeat.

Following his capture after a sensational automobile dash into the northwest from the scene of the crime, young Hickman denied the killing of the little daughter of Perry Parker, banker, and charged that the murder was the work of another man, James and June Dunning.

But early today as he alternately boasted and joked in his cell in the county jail here Hickman made admissions to L. R. Connor, his jailer, which caused authorities to believe that he knew more of the killing than he has admitted.

Hickman slept peacefully during the after hours of the night. Reassured when the crowd that had surrounded the jail dwindled away, young Hickman regained his aplomb and was "the life of the party."

"THANK GOD, HE'S CAUGHT!" SAYS BEREAVED FATHER OF SLAIN CHILD

By ARTHUR L. MAREK.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 23.—"Thank God, he's caught!" The words of a bereaved and tormented father echoed here today to ease the hearts and minds of a distraught city as the machinery of the law was set into motion to bring William Edward Hickman, indicted kidnaper-murderer of Little Marion Parker, to a speedy justice.

Within eight hours after the word was flashed back here that Hickman had been captured at Echo, Oregon, the self-styled killer "Fox" stood charged in an indictment with the kidnaping and murder of the 12-year-old school girl.

Meeting in a dramatic night session, which lasted for eighty awful minutes, sixteen stern men, composed the Los Angeles county grand jury, returned a "true bill," designed to send Hickman to the gallows.

Their grim business finished, the grand jurors marched into the courtroom of Superior Judge Carlos Hardy and Foreman George H. Walhaus gravely handed the document to the presiding justice.

Armed with requisition papers and a copy of the indictment, Detective Inspector D. W. Longuevan today awaited the first streaks of dawn to hop off in a ready airplane for the state capital at Sacramento in the next step to bring Hickman back to the scene of the atrocious crime.

Speedy Trial Promised.
Meanwhile, a party of high officials of Los Angeles, headed by District Attorney Asa Keyes, Police Chief James E. Davis, and Detective Chief Herman Cline were speeding north by train to Pendleton, Oregon, to take charge of the captive and return him with all possible haste. Traveling straight through to Portland, they are due to reach Pendleton some time Saturday.

That the law will deal swiftly, yet justly, with the confessed kidnaper of Marion Parker is an assured fact.

CHIEF OF POLICE, PLACES BLAME FOR BRUTAL KILLING ON SOCIETY

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 23.—Blame for the brutal slaying of 12-year-old Marion Parker of Los Angeles, supposedly by William Edward Hickman, 19, was placed squarely on the shoulders of society today by Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley.

Vollmer, widely known for his successful application of scientific principles to police work and crime problems put it in these words:

"One hundred thousand dollars has been offered for the capture of Hickman. How much is being spent to prevent children from developing into Hickmans, Leebes and Leopolds?"

"There is a potential Hickman in almost every school. Potential Leebes and Leopolds are everywhere."

"But society concerns itself chiefly with apprehensions of these youngsters when they become criminals, with their punishment, but not with preventive measures."

"Until more attention is paid to preventive measures, there will always be revolting crimes like the one in Los Angeles."

"But suppose children are born with criminal tendencies which do not yield to preventive measures?" Vollmer was asked.

"The rattlesnake can be controlled. If you are aware of those tendencies—and society should be—means can be found to prevent their expression in violent form," he replied.

"In the first place, the plan already being used at Highland Park, Mich., should be universally adopted. That is, place psychiatrists in the schools. Perhaps not one to each school, but sufficient in each community to give individual attention to each child. That is the greatest need—individual and expert attention."

SOLONS TABLE PROPOSED SALARY INCREASES FOR POLICE CAPTAIN, PATROLMEN AND FIREMEN

Requests for salary increases for the captain of police, patrolmen and members of the fire department were tabled while legislation boosting the pay of municipal water works employees and the court bailiff was passed on first reading and for the city auditor on second reading at an adjourned meeting of city council last night.

Members of the police force submitted a petition asking that their salaries be increased from $150 to $180 monthly. Councilman Farrall charged that the police received more than the majority of pottery workers and offered a motion that the request be received and filed. Solons Kelly, Poole and Goodballet supported his motion, while Councilmen Hughes, Hayes and Kommel opposed it.

Because it carried the emergency clause, legislation raising the salary of the police captain from $155 to $175 monthly met the same fate as the police salary ordinance. Goodballet, Hughes, Hayes and Kommel supported the ordinance while Farrall, Kelly and Poole voted against it.

President Kerr ruled that five votes were necessary to carry the ordinance with the emergency clause.

Petition of the fire department asked for an increase from $170 to $190 monthly for the fire chief, $152 to $172 for the assistant chief and $140 to $160 for the firemen. There was no legislation for this proposed increase and the request was "received and filed" without a dissenting vote.

Kerr Rules Out One Reading.
Ordinance, increasing the salary of the court bailiff from $1,200 to $1,800 a year was passed supposedly on second reading with Farrall, Kelly and Poole opposing it, but following adjournment of council President Kerr ruled that the measure had been passed on but one reading despite records of Clerk Arthur Shone showing a second reading.

Man Hunt Ends

The nation-wide net thrown out by the Los Angeles authorities in the search for a suspect in the kidnapping and slaying of 12-year-old Marion Parker, daughter of a banker, whose mangled body was flung at her father after he had paid the ransom demanded, entangled William Edward Hickman at Echo, a small frontier town in the wilds of eastern Oregon yesterday afternoon.

The former bank messenger, whose picture had been flashed to every section of North America by the California city police, thus making the odds against his escape too great, admits he abducted the little girl, who was enticed from her school room when a fake accident message was delivered. However, he denies and part in the brutal killing, and is reported to have told officers that another man murdered the child and dismembered her body.

A trail of "blood money"—the $20 gold certificates which Perry M. Parker, the girl's father, had paid for his daughter's torso—led to the capture of this egotistic youth who is said to be a boy of extraordinary intelligence. However, he was not bright enough to evade the law.

The suspect will be extradited and brought back to Los Angeles for trial, which, no doubt, will be delayed until the wrath of the nation cools. Of course, he is entitled to his day in court, and he is innocent until a jury rules otherwise. And if he is convicted it is doubtful if there will be any mercy as was the case in the Chicago murder in which the wealth of the defendants saved them from the noose.

Fewer Radio Stations

After some elimination, there are still nearly 700 radio broadcasting stations in the United States. That, the federal radio commission believes, is twice too many. There is not room enough for all of them in the ether, at least in the wave-band now used for broadcasting.

The broadcasters naturally want to continue their work, because for nearly all of them it means profitable publicity. But the public, acting through the government, has the last word. It doesn't feel the need of all of them. It would much rather have 300 stations broadcasting good programs than 600 or 700 broadcasting all kinds of programs, good, bad and indifferent, on wave-lengths interfering with each other.

It will be hard on the people eliminated, but it will undoubtedly be good for broadcasting and for the radio industry in general, to clear the air.

With the tendency toward more powerful stations and joint broadcasting by groups of stations through the relay system, the public might be adequately served, as far as entertainment is concerned, by a small fraction of the present number of broadcasters.

Lee De Forest, the radio inventor whose vacuum tube made broadcasting possible, believes 300 stations would be plenty for the whole country. More than that number might be kept, however, by additional arrangements through which two or more stations in a given locality or section would use the same wave and divide their time.

Judges And Divorce Reform

One of the wholesome signs of the times is the revolt of many judges against certain long-standing divorce practices. A recent case is the decision of Judge Joseph Sabath of Chicago to decline to order temporary alimony payments to pleading wives until he has investigated the merits of each case. Before this it has been customary to grant temporary alimony merely on request.

Judge Sabath has found that many wives have filed separate maintenance suits simply in order to force their husbands to agree to unwarrantedly generous divorce settlements. Now, when he grants separate maintenance, even on a showing of justification by the wife, he requires that it be only a temporary arrangement and must be terminated either by divorce or by the court relieving the husband of further responsibility.

These changes, it is thought, will work no hardship on the wife with just claims, but will prove a considerable check on such wives as go into this only for the money.

Other judges in other parts of the country have expressed dissatisfaction with the alimony situation and other mercenary phases of the divorce problem. If their revolt is effective it may mean a valuable reform, preventing this particular type of gold-digging or at least greatly curtailing the amount of it.

Censored Music

A recent Italian edict, said to be aimed at American jazz, requires that half of any musical program must be made up of Italian music.

We needn't sneer at this edict. During the war German music was pretty widely banned in our own country, although it came back into favor again soon. Furthermore, jazz is jazz and a thoughtful person can hardly blame a foreign dictator for trying to stem the American jazz tide somehow.

Great music, however, in addition to expressing certain national moods and characteristics, has a universal appeal. If that half of the program which is left open to foreign music is filled with the best from other lands, the hostile edict will not stand long.

The nation has already spent on Christmas presents more than it expects to save from federal tax reduction.

Moreover, it is safe to prophesy that when Mrs. Lindbergh finishes that airplane trip, she will not accept any vaudeville engagements.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Thoughts while strolling: A flower and puppy shop. The solemn-looking Winthrop Ames. The Peg Woffington shop waitresses. People who stagger trying to see the clock on the Paramount building. Fit yourself clothing stores. A turbaned gentleman with middle parted whiskers.

The sidewalk magazine display next door to the Casino. The fellow whose shirt front becomes an electrically lighted ad still has his job. Another show endorsed by Mayor Walker. The Herald Square bootblack who wears a pince-nez. The jerky rumble thump of the elevated.

Hotel facades sliced into rows of small shops. A priest chatting with a blind man. A new drug store in the Flatiron building. The old woman with a fortune telling parrot. Al Johnson's leather coat. What became of the glided Diana atop the old Madison Square Garden?

Family hotels with those gloomy, expressionless servants. Hunched-up figures shivering on park benches. Unlatched garages. Lots for rent. A beautiful girl reaches in her stocking to pay a taxi driver. Where was I? O, yes, a one-armed peanut seller who sings tenor.

A famous table d'hote Chianti parlor becomes a mission. A Chinese carrying a cane. Inwood House where strawing sisters are turned into respectable paths. Striped barber poles. A red mustache and a white derby. The building boom in Greenwich Village.

Madam Bartolotti's where party at the folk gather. Soda fountains featuring spumoni and zabaglione. Hatless, smocked and long-haired local celebrities trying not to appear self-conscious. Rose O'Neil's studio. The little frame buildings are disappearing.

The rare charm of Washington Square. Front porches and great open hearths. Brass door knockers and foot scrapers. Iron fences. The ancient Brevoort—now modernized Mark Twain's red brick home. And mammoth apartment houses shooting to the skies.

Walter Hampden, the Shakespearean actor, is now president of The Player's Club—following such distinguished predecessors as Edwin Booth, Joseph Jefferson and John Drew. The player's cling to its old home in Gramercy Park despite efforts of the newer generation to move northward. The clubhouse is the home of Booth.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Greece Adjusts Her Debt.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—An individual owing a considerable sum of money to a bank who was able to effect a settlement by borrowing a still larger sum from the bank would be heralded nowadays as a financier. Could he secure an extension of credit whereby he would have a lifetime in which to discharge his obligation he would probably be rated as a financial genius. What, then, is the rating to be accorded Greece as a result of her adjustment of her war debt to the United States?

Greece now owes the United States more than twice as much as she did seven years ago, and she has 62 years in which to discharge the obligation. Moreover, Greece has not executed a mortgage on her old home place which Uncle Sam might foreclose should he essay the role of an abdunder and unsatisfied creditor.

This final arrangement between the United States and Greece, which has been but recently concluded, is one of the interesting sequels of the World war. The delay in working it out is another story.

The net result is that Greece gets rather more than $12,000,000 from the United States at a low rate of interest and is given 62 years in which to repay the principal and interest. The United States, it must be conceded, wiggles out of an obligation to advance an even greater sum to Greece and at the same time secures what might be regarded as the equivalent of a mortgage on the national realty holdings of the Greeks.

Involved in the settlement which has been worked out was the question as to whether a debtor is entitled to all the credit he has negotiated and whether the lender can collect anything unless he has actually advanced the full sum he has agreed to lend. Also there was the rather neat diplomatic question as to how two nations can settle their financial differences when they are not on speaking terms and have been taking the opposite sides of international affairs for a considerable period whenever it ap-

Secretary Mellon Approves.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has put his okay on the settlement. That is probably sufficient to satisfy the average American that his country's interests have been safeguarded, for Mr. Mellon was recognized as a great banker long before the handling of the nation's finances were entrusted to him. Secretary of State Kellogg participated in the conversations—so termed in diplomatic parlance—that led to the adjustment.

Greece came into the World war on the side of the allies about the same time that the United States did in 1917, and in December of that year a military convention covering the prosecution of the war on the Macedonian front was drawn up. On February 19, 1918, a financial agreement was signed under the terms of which the United States, England and France each was to provide funds up to approximately $50,000,000 to enable Greece to carry out her part of the military agreement.

To prevent an unfavorable effect upon the exchange rate between the powers making the loan and Greece it was stipulated that no money should be transferred until six months after the conclusion of peace. In the meantime, credits were to be established and assigned to the Greek bank of issue to cover paper money of a similar amount, such paper money to be withdrawn when the money in the amount of the loans was transferred after the stipulated period following the conclusion of peace.

Advances to be made to Greece were to be subject to the approval of an Inter-Allied Financial Commission, composed of one representative from each of the signatory governments, and the use of the funds was to be controlled by that commission and by a military commission similarly established. Secretary Mellon has said that there is no doubt but that Greece expended for war purposes under the 1918 agreement an amount largely in excess of the advances she has since received. The advances, if they are to be so termed, since they were sums turned over after the Allied Commission had certified to Greek war expenditures, amounted to $15,000,000 on the part of the United States.

Greece Asked for Much More.

The American delegate on the Allied Commission made recommendations upon which Greece was entitled to credits in excess of $48,000,000 and this received the approval of President Wilson. The Greek government, accordingly, has maintained that it should receive a further loan to an amount such that its total debt to the United States would equal the approved and established credits. The United States took the position that events subsequent to November, 1920, relieved it from making any further cash payments to Greece.

Greece had a similar controversy with England and last April it was settled under an agreement that Greece should pay England approximately $32,000,000 over a period of 62 years at a low rate of interest and waive all claims for further advances under the 1918 agreement.

This was made the basis of the settlement between the United States and Greece. This country insisted that it should be released from the 1918 agreement upon terms as favorable as those conceded Great Britain. The Greeks consented to that, but insisted that before the United States could expect to stand upon the same basis as Great Britain it must advance a sum as great as that advanced by Great Britain under the 1918 agreement. That sounded reasonable, as they say, and the American diplomats (Continued On Page Eleven.)

Midland Collegians Outclass New Brighton Kays, 61 to 14, In Basketball Game in High Gym

Steel City Floor Squad Members Shoot From Every Angle in Scoring Frenzy.

Caging 14 field goals each half, Midland Collegians in a scoring frenzy completely outplayed New Brighton Kays on the Lincoln High gym floor last night. Score was 61-14.

Shooting from every angle of the floor, dropping short dunks through the straps and looping long distance heaves, the Collegians showed themselves superior to the Kays in every department of the floor game.

Every regular who started for the Red and White scored at least one basket. Shaffer who went in at the last minute, alone failed to register. Page and Slater took high scoring honors with six baskets each. Ungheim and Reese trailed them with four hoops each, while Benedict and Black added three each.

Kays did not make a score until well along in the second quarter when Mitter came through. The ex-college five stormed into the New Brighton opponents like a whirlwind, dribbling, dodging, sidestepping and shooting with deadly accuracy. Soon after the second half opened, the New Brighton boys visibly "blew up" and although they scored eight points in the second frame, were worn out when the whistle ended the massacre.

Steel City cakers outpointed the up-river aggregation in shooting fouls, making five out of eight attempts. Kays only hooped four in their dozen attempts.

Wuschinski played a good defensive game. He broke up play after play with his close guarding.

AWARD LETTERS TO GRIDDEERS

Athletic Honors Conferred Upon High Players.

Award of athletic letters to varsity football players, followed by a Christmas playlet staged by pupils featured the program of Lincoln high's most important chapel of the year, held in the school auditorium today.

Principal R. E. Boyles awarded football letters to the following men: Sadler, George Sufletto, Glumac, Walter, Baxter, Watson, Singleton, E. Smith, Snesak, R. Graham, Rosen, Perrier, Teelvie and Morgan.

Framed picture of the old naval ship, "Constitution," was then presented to the freshman B class which won first place in the subscription contest for the Arrow, school publication. R. H. Hays, of the faculty, who presided during the program, presented the picture.

"Christmas Chime," a one-act play with plot centering around a Yule vacation spent by two young persons in love in the same home, furnished a humorous touch to the program. Cast of the play, selected from the sophomore class and directed by R. H. Hays, faculty member, included: Margaret McConney, Michael Vovnovich, Clifford Force and Freda Mally. Margaret McConney, Freda Mally, Elvira Stearns, Evelyn Smith and Julius Hoffmann staged a pantomime of "Silent Night."

Reading by Michael Vovnovich and selection by the school orchestra completed the program of the chapel service, following which classes were dismissed for the Yule vacation.

Fourth A and Fifth B classes of Seventh street school, under direction of the Misses Ruth Folk and Weaver, presented a musical and dramatic entertainment at the special meeting. Twenty-five children in costumes, representing dolls, soldiers and other toys, offered a sketch of Santa Claus workshop. Mrs. H. B. Kinsinger gave a reading "Mr. Bushby's Kindergarten Christmas."

PRESENTATION CAGERS WIN

Synagogue Basketball Team Defeated by Two Points.

In a preliminary to the Collegians' battle with New Brighton Kays last night at Lincoln gym, Presentation five won a two-point victory over the Synagogue quintet in the opening contest of the Midland church league.

Rally staged by the Jewish cagers in the second half failed to overcome the margin of the Catholic combination.

Miglro, who scored four baskets for the Presentation team, was the star of the contest by all odds. His close guarding was a feature. Morzan showed well at forward. J. Bream accounted for two hoops and Schmidt and Daugherty each dropped one through the hoops.

Feinberg, who starred for the Synagogue quintet, garnered two baskets and four fouls. Goodman made two field goals and Rosen one.

MEXICO HEAPS HONORS UPON MRS. LINDBERGH

Flyer's Mother Captivates Hearts in Capital.
LATIN GALLANTRY
Mexico City Students Serenade Detroit Teacher.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23.—Mexico, officially and privately, not down to day to the joyful business of showing Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh honors due to the mother of the young American who has captivated Mexican hearts ever since he arrived. Official welcomes and trips through the city were planned.

Just before she retired last night, Mrs. Lindbergh was treated to a neat gesture of Latin gallantry. A group of students from the preparatory and professional schools in the city, some carrying guitars and mandolins, escorted themselves beneath the windows of the American embassy.

Then those inside the building heard the notes of the instruments and the soft voices of the students as they serenaded the mother of the young "Americano."

Tosses Rose to Serenaders.

With her son, Mrs. Lindbergh stepped out on the balcony and acknowledged the compliment. Before she went in again, she tossed a rose to the serenaders who spent the next ten minutes or so scrambling wildly for the sweet favor.

Mrs. Lindbergh arrived at Valbuena field yesterday afternoon from Tampico in a giant trimotored Ford airplane. She was immediately welcomed by General Jose Alvarez, chief of staff to President Calles, and then taken in the ambassadorial automobile to the American embassy.

Table Pay Boosts

The ordinance increasing the salary of the city auditor from $1,650 to $1,980 annually was passed on second reading. Farrall, Kelly and Pools standing against it. The measure does not carry the emergency clause.

By unanimous vote the council refused to give their approval to an option obtained by John W. Moore on the Charles McNeil property in Lincoln avenue, needed for street improvement purposes. An ordinance authorizing the services director to purchase the property for $7,000 was tabled after the option was rejected.

Lease Section of Street.
An ordinance leasing an unused section of Ohio avenue along the river front to A. L. Pugh, who plans the establishment of a concrete block, coal and sand business, was passed on three readings, after Attorney R. G. Thompson appeared before council in behalf of the measure. Attorney Charles Boyd, representing Grant McKinnon, who, he said, owned the property between Ohio river and the river edge, opposed the lease, asserting that this would shut off McKinnon's egress and ingress to the property. The lease is for a period of 25 years at a rental of $5 per year.

Six other ordinances and one resolution were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. The resolution provides for an assessment reduction from $4.02 to $2.68 per foot for the improvement of Mulberry street. Farrall opposed the legislation, charging that this council had established a precedent for the reduction of street improvement assessments.

Five of the ordinances levied special assessments for the improvement of Burford, Smithfield, East Second, Jefferson and Springdale streets. Another measure to borrow $17,550 and issue notes in anticipation of the collection of assessments for a number of streets and sewer improvement projects was also passed without opposition.

Council adjourned until next Wednesday evening when the salary increasing legislation already started will be taken up. Still another adjourned session will be necessary to complete the legislation already started before the legislators quit office.

RABBIT SEASON ENDS DEC. 31

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 23.—A ruling that the present open season for hunting rabbits and hares ends at midnight on Saturday, December 31, next was announced today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner.

The opinion was addressed to Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture, who asked for the ruling. Truax explained that, since New Year's day falls on Sunday this winter, many inquiries had been received from hunters as to whether they would be permitted to hunt rabbits to, and including January 2.

Although one provision of Ohio law authorized hunters to shoot rabbits on January 1, Turner directed attention to another section of law which placed a ban on New Year's day hunting when it fell on Sunday. Another law was cited by Turner which prohibits anyone over 14 years of age from hunting, fishing or shooting on Sunday.

ORDER HOTEL MAN TO MOVE

Schwarz Not Charged With Liquor Violation.

Notification to H. A. Schwarz, lessee of the Thompson House, Third street and Broadway, directing him to vacate the place, was to be served by Court Bailiff Carmen Hissman today.

Hissman visited the hotel yesterday afternoon to notify Schwarz that he must vacate the hotel upon orders of the municipal court. Schwarz, court officials claim, is seeking leave to carry the case into common pleas court on error in which event a stay of execution will be sought.

Schwarz took over the hotel from Mrs. Louise Polk, the owner, about April 1, 1927, for which he agreed to pay a monthly rental of $100. Mrs. Polk recently filed a forcible entry and detainer suit against the lessee.

No charge of liquor violation was made in the petition against Schwarz, but at a hearing before a jury this week, A. Earl Edwards, court clerk, produced the court docket showing that Fred Weiss, night clerk of the hotel, had been arrested on December 7, 1927, and upon facing Municipal Judge Hanley entered a plea of guilty to a charge of furnishing liquor for which he paid a fine of $100 and costs.

The court docket also showed the arrest of John Cox, who police claimed had informed them that he purchased liquor from Weiss. Cox was fined $100 and costs for illegal possession. Patrolman James Haley testified relative to the arrest of Weiss at the hotel.

Probation Officer John McShane, another of Mrs. Polk's witnesses, testified that he had visited the hotel during the week of December 5 to investigate a juvenile case. The hotel register was introduced in support of his testimony. McShane declared that the two girls, one of whom was from Wellsville and the second from this city, who were involved in the inquiry, are now inmates of the Marysville reformatory, where they were taken upon orders of the probate court.

Captain of Police Conley testified that he had received complaints relative to gambling in the hotel.

The jury returned a verdict finding Schwarz "guilty as charged." Cochran and Crawford represented Mrs. Polk, while W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, defended Schwarz.

YOUTH FACES NARCOTIC COUNT

Charged with the possession of narcotics, Francis Gordon, Sixth street, was bound over to Columbiana county grand jury under $1,500 bond by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today.

Gordon was arrested yesterday afternoon by a federal narcotic inspector from Cleveland. He is alleged to have carried 20 grains of morphine, 20 grains of cocaine and a hypodermic needle when taken into custody.

Admits Delinquency Charge.

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl, Joseph Georges, East Liverpool, entered a plea of guilty when he faced Probate Judge Lodge Riddle at Lisbon yesterday. He will be sentenced next week.

WEALTH LOOMS FOR CAPTORS OF HICKMAN

Theatrical Contracts and $100,000 are Rewards.

TWO MEN SHARE Pendleton, Ore., Chief and State Sergeant Make Capture.

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 23.—Sudden and unexpected wealth looms for Chief of Police Tom Gurdane and State Traffic Sergeant Ray Llewellyn as the result of their capture near Pendleton yesterday of William Edward Hickman.

In addition to the $100,000 reward offered for the youthful kidnaper of Marion Parker, 12-year-old Los Angeles girl, the two also are looking over offers from four theatre companies.

One of these is for $5,000 weekly each for them to appear on a lecture tour in a Hollywood theatre. The other offers are said also to be attractive to the two Pendletonians who until now have made known no great affluence.

The Hollywood offer reads: "Congratulations on the capture of Hickman. This is to formally offer you a contract for yourself and offer you a contract of $5,000 weekly for six months, also contract for exclusive rights on same. Answer at once, No 1605 Cabuena ave., Hollywood."

The wire was signed Sherill and Feldman Inc.

Hickman Denies Slaying

Hickman said he went to an auto club at Seattle and asked the road to Spokane. They told him he might catch a train but that one of the passengers was too deep with snow to allow automobile driving. It was this information that decided the hunted youth to double back. He drove straight in to the path of those looking for him.

Details of Horrible Story.
To Connor, Hickman went into all the details of his adventures, continuing to blame Kramer for the killing and mutilation of Marion Parker and naming Miss Banning as an accomplice. He told of calling for the Parker girl, of taking her to a Los Angeles theatre that night, of giving her into the keeping of Kramer and finally receiving part of her head and hand which he delivered to Perry M. Parker, the father.

He described how horrible the body looked as, with the eyes drawn open with thin thread, he drove with it to the father. He spoke of the seven parcels in which the limbs and lower torso of the girl were wrapped. He related the manner in which he took $1,500 from the father as ransom money for the safe return of the girl and then how he delivered the body.

Through all the horrible story, Hickman talked coolly almost coldly.

Issue Extradition Papers.
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 23.—Armed with extradition papers for William Edward Hickman, Detective Inspector D. W. Longuevan of Los Angeles took off from Clover field at 7:50 a. m. today in an airplane for Sacramento to obtain the signature of Gov. Yoneka, which is necessary before the fugitive can be brought back to California to face murder and kidnapping charges.

Easy Jaunt Northward.
PENDLETON, Oregon, Dec. 23.—It was a comparatively easy jaunt northward from California for William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper of 12-year-old Marion Parker.

But it was when he turned back, on a bit of advice given him at Seattle, that he made the mistake of running directly into the hands of vigilant Oregon authorities.

These things were disclosed today following the youth's arrest in the Columbia River highway, 22 miles west of Pendleton, by Chief of Police Tom Gurdane and State Traffic Officer "Buck" Llewellyn.

In a talk with City Attorney C. Z. Randall, of Pendleton, young Hickman told of his adventures. Incidentally he verified the fact that he had ridden with two companions into Portland early Wednesday morning.

Hickman admitted that he dropped Marion Parker's mutilated body at the feet of her father after collecting the $1,500 ransom offered for her safe return.

"I placed the package gently on the curb and I didn't throw it as they said," he made haste to explain.

Then, he said, he went to the Leighton restaurant in Los Angeles to eat and it was there that he passed the first $20 bill of the ransom roll.

In House as Sleuths Search.
"I'll bet you'd be surprised if you knew who I am," he said he told the waitress to whom he handed the money.

Thereafter, he told Darnell, he was in the Helene apartment when detectives searched that house. One, he declared, he even talked with one of the inspectors.

Sunday, according to his story, Hickman left for San Francisco. Three times he was stopped by officers but, after brief examinations, he was allowed to go.

At San Francisco, he said, he was to meet Andy Kramer, whom he charged with having murdered and battered the Parker girl.

They were to meet, he continued, at the Herald hotel. Kramer did not appear, he said, and Tuesday he drove north again.

StreetCar Passenger Injured.
John Murray, 29, Erie, Pa., was brought to the City hospital at 11:20 o'clock last night, suffering from a back injury sustained when he fell while aboard a Youngstown & Ohio River street car at Leontonia. He was attended by Dr. J. A. Metz.

COACH UPSETS; NO ONE HURT

Ray V. Smith, Midland mill worker, and four other passengers enroute to Canton where they planned to spend Christmas, escaped unhurt when their Hudson coach skidded and plunged over a 40-foot embankment near the corporate limits on the Lincoln highway at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The machine remained upright, coming to a stop when it crashed into a grape arbor.

McElvay Brothers' wrecker towed the car to the Buckeye Motor company's garage, East Sixth and Walnut streets.

REPORT $20.74 SALE OF SEALS

Committee in charge of the Christmas health seal booth in the lobby of the downtown postoffice yesterday reported collection of $20.74. The committee included Mrs. H. R. Thompson, Mrs. A. D. Wilson and Mrs. W. E. O'Brien.

saxophone and was considered a good musician."

Tribute in Annual.

Hickman's classmates looked him up in their high school annual, "The Centralian." There they found the following tribute under his photograph which was captioned "Hickcy."

"An excellent scholastic stand, and an unequalled record in high standard activities, and a high standard of ideals will fix his memory in the annals of Central."

Then "The Centralian" continued with his record of school activities: "Vice president Senior class; president Central Webster club; president Central chapter, National Honor society; negative debate team '25; Student Council '24, '25, '26; business manager Luminary (the high school's weekly newspaper); literary editor, Centralian, '26; president Central Classics club, '25; Junior Aide; Central Thucydides club, '23; senior ballot, 'First Boy Orator'."

"Hickman a murderer?" they ask, and then hasten to answer the question themselves, with an emphatic "No—it's unbelievable."

Don Johnstone, a former chum of Hickman, tells of the youth yearning for a college education.

"He went to Dr. Harry C. Rogers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church," says Johnstone, "and sought the minister's aid in entering Park college at Parkville, Mo."

"This was shortly after he was graduated from Central. I went with him to the pastor's home. Dr. Rogers did get things lined up for 'Hickcy,' but for some reason or other his plans for attending college fell through."

"I know he was greatly disappointed because he could not go to college."

Desired to Be Minister.

"He desired to become a minister," Hickman's religious aspirations were further verified by Dr. D. J. Evans, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

"He was very active in our Sunday school work," the pastor tells. "He was well liked and his athletic build made him a place on the Sunday school's basketball team as a guard."

All of Hickman's friends knew he had been in trouble in Los Angeles when he had his brush with the law for forging a small check in the bank in which Marion Parker's father was an official.

"But," they agree, "Hickcy" came back and faced all of us gamely. He told us he was sorry that he had erred, but asked forgiveness. He was so honest about it that we were only too glad to help him get on his feet again."

Mother's Story.

Hickman's struggle through his younger years came when the father and husband deserted Mrs. Hickman 11 years ago in Hartford, Ark. Mrs. Hickman was left with five children, with no means of support, she asserted.

After a hard struggle she and her children came to Kansas City, and it was here that her children worked their way through the schools.

With her youngest daughter, Mary, who is 15, Mrs. Hickman lives in three modest furnished rooms on the city's east side. Mary now is a student in the Central high school.

"My boys were all good boys," asserts Mrs. Hickman. "They worked hard and helped me. And they were good in school. Edward always studied hard and seemed most interested in making his grades."

"And he sure did make his grades," his sister Mary adds.

However, in the questioning of William Edward Hickman's acquaintances, I have found one man who believes the model student was suffering from mental abnormality.

He is Charles Edwards, former police chief of this city.

Police Chief Aided Him.

"I have known Mrs. Hickman and her family about eight years," says Edwards. "Last January Edward came to me and asked me to assist him in getting employment in Los Angeles. He told me he wanted to go there for a change of climate."

"I wrote a letter of introduction, and this he presented to the First National Bank of Los Angeles."

"I afterward learned that he got employment there."

"At the time, however, I observed the youth was uneasy—he had a sort of a wanderlust or roaming disposition about him."

"I knew the boy had studied hard in school and I thought the trip to Los Angeles would do him some good."

"But to my surprise, I learned in July he had been arrested for forgery."

S-4 RAISING NOW ROUTINE SALVAGE JOB

Passes From Rescue Drama as Hope is Abandoned.

MAY DEFER TASK

Steel Coffin With 40 Dead Men on Ocean Floor.

BOSTON, Dec. 23.—Denial of the widespread report that the navy was going to give up until spring the work of salvaging the sunken submarine S-4 and her 40 dead, was made at Charlestown navy yard this afternoon by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commanding the third naval district.

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 23.—With life admittedly extinguished within the hull of the S-4, the task of raising the sunken sub from its grave off Provincetown harbor today passed from a rescue drama into a routine salvage job.

Lieutenant Commander Edward Flisberg, directing the operations, declared that unless unusually fair weather persisted it was not likely that the steel coffin with its cargo of forty dead men could be raised to the surface before next spring. Flisberg was recovering today from a battle with the sucking waters when he descended as a diver to survey the S-4 condition.

"We are going ahead as fast as we can until the weather halts us or the navy department calls off operations," said admiral Frank H. Brumby, in charge of the salvage fleet. "This is now purely a salvage job and not a rescue job."

A wintry storm is due off Cape Cod here within the next few days.

Navy Awaits Attack

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Forewarned of heavy weather on Capitol Hill as soon as congress re-assembles, the navy is bracing itself for the most severe attack in recent years.

Although confident that no vulnerable spots will be exposed by an inquiry into the S-4 disaster, as proposed by four resolutions already offered in the house, navy officials are reminded to the fact that a congressional investigation is virtually inescapable.

While the navy proceeds with the business of preparing its own case for presentation, friends of the navy in both houses are bending their efforts to confining the scope of the investigation.

"Big navy" men on both sides of the capitol are alarmed by threats to broaden the proposed inquiry into a general examination of naval policy and efficiency and thereby to consolidate it with the storm already churning about the new $500,000,000 building program.

SENDS TELEGRAM

El Paso Man Will Sacrifice Everything, he Says.

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 23.—William Thomas Hickman, 50, father of William Edward Hickman, held at Pendleton, Oregon, on murder charges in connection with the brutal killing of little Marion Parker at Los Angeles, wants to see his son punished to the full extent of the law if he is guilty. If the youth is not guilty of the crime for which the police of the nation sought him for almost a week, then the father will make any sacrifice within his power to help him. He said today, as he awaited a reply to a telegram sent his son last night.

"If you are guilty, I hope you will be punished by death," the telegram read. "If you are innocent, I will say office all I have to help you. Let me know, as a son to his father, whether or not you are guilty of the crime with which you stand charged. If you are guilty, then may God forgive you and have mercy upon you."

SKETCH OF NEW BRYAN MEMORIAL UNIVERSITY

Here is an architect's drawing of the administration building for the new Bryan Memorial university, now under construction at Dayton, Tenn., where William Jennings Bryan passed his last days. To the left is Earle Robinson, president of the university board, who declares that the school is to be strictly fundamentalist in its policies.

Ghosts in Palace Reported.
Famed Hampton Court Palace of England is said to be tenanted by ghosts. Jane Seymour, one of the wives of King Henry VIII, is said to be one of the most frequent visiting specters. From time to time is heard the sound of a spinning wheel, although no spinning wheel is seen and in the quarter whence the sound is heard there was formerly no chamber which might contain one. The noise seemed to come from behind a dead wall. So persistent were the assertions that authority to pierce the wall was granted. It was then found that the partition bricked up a small room in which stood a spinning wheel. On two occasions Queen Catherine was said to be seen standing by the great staircase wringing her hands and sobbing. Catherine Howard, who was lodged at Hampton Court before her execution, is said to have been another spectral visitor.

Distribution is scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday morning.

A large Christmas tree, erected by one of the lodge rooms, will be the center of the Yule festivities.

The Elks treated approximately the same number of youngsters last year.

MISS HICKMAN CLASS HOSTESS

Miss Mabel Hickman was hostess to members of the Mizpah Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening at her home in Maple avenue.

Games and guessing contests were diversions. The program was in charge of Mrs. John Hickman and Mrs. Eva Smolkey.

Mrs. H. C. Hiddings, the class teacher, was presented with a pocketbook and a memorandum pad.

The home was attractively decorated, in keeping with the season. A large Christmas tree occupied a prominent place in the decorative scheme.

Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Helen Hickman, a sister, Miss Isabel Anderson and Mrs. Everett Kessel.

The class officers announced that the organization's pledge toward the cost of church redecoration work last spring, had been completed.

PAY DEPOSITORS OF FOUR BANKS

State Banking Department Distributes Funds.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 22.—Distribution of $292,662 to depositors for four state banks by Charles W. Miller, liquidating agent, of the state banking department, was announced today.

This money, in the form of dividends, was distributed this week to depositors of the Jewett state bank, Jewett, Harrison county; the Farmers' & Merchants' bank, Burkettsville, Mercer county; the Bridgeport Dollar Savings bank, Bridgeport, Belmont county; and the Commercial bank, West Jefferson, Madison county. All funds of these banks are in process of liquidation by the state banking department.

Dividends totaling $1,739,688 were paid during this year to depositors of banks taken over for liquidation by the department. This was the largest amount ever thus distributed during any one year by the Ohio banking department. It was stated.

The largest single distribution made during this year was that of $283,044, representing a 40 per cent dividend, paid to depositors of the Bridgeport bank which closed April 22, last, it was announced.

Rapid progress has been made, it was stated, by the department in the work of liquidating the affairs of the Lexington Savings bank, Lexington, Richmond county, which closed March 11, last. A 75 per cent dividend, totaling $191,330, was paid, in two installments, to depositors of this bank, it was said.

In the case of the Peoples' Banking company, Amsterdam, Jefferson county, which closed January 10, last, a 70 per cent dividend, aggregating $233,891, was paid depositors, while a 66 2/3 per cent dividend, amounting to $276,994, went to depositors of the Peoples' Bank company, Frazeysburg, Muskingum county, which closed Feb. 4, last.

Other dividends paid this year, the state banking department announced today, follow:

To the Bridgeport Dollar Savings bank, $156,895, a 22 1/2 per cent dividend; to the Jewett State bank, closed Jan. 28, a 60 per cent dividend, $169,111; to the Farmers' & Merchants' bank, Burkettsville, closed Dec. 4, 1926, a 53 1/3 per cent dividend, $192,612; to the Farmers' Commercial & Savings bank, West Unity, Williams county, closed April 9, last, a 33 1/3 per cent dividend, $67,732; to the Citizens' Savings bank, Pioneer, Williams county, closed March 4, last, a 20 per cent dividend, $35,537; to the Union Savings bank, Yorkville, Jefferson county, closed May 14, 1926, a 12 1/2 per cent dividend, $109,673; and to the Commercial bank, West Jefferson, closed May 12, last, a 20 per cent dividend, $113,065.

A Dog's Adventure

Jack, a foxhound belonging to V. O. Cranford, of Waynesboro, Miss., was chasing a fox recently. Then he disappeared. Nine days later, a howl was heard in the vicinity of the hunt. Investigation discovered Jack at the bottom of a well. He was lonesome—but fat and sleek. It was found that the fox had jumped into the well, too, so Jack had plenty of fresh meat during his incarceration.

collections at the various banks in liquidation and expect that additional dividends will be available for depositors early next year.

Plans are under way, it was announced, for reopening the new Riegel State bank, at New Riegel, Seneca county, which closed December 1, last, because of "frozen" assets. As a result of a plan worked out by the state banking department, the Eldorado State bank, at Eldorado, Preble county, which closed Sept. 12, last, for an audit of the bank's records, following the alleged suicide of its cashier, was reopened for business several weeks later, it was stated.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OVERRULED

A motion for a new trial has been overruled in the case of Francisco Maggio against the Firemen's Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J. The action was placed on the record Jan. 21st last, when the plaintiff sought to recover $1,500 claimed to be due him through a fire loss covered by a policy held with the defendant company.

A jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $1,374.22 May 23rd last.

Application Denied.
An application for an allowance of attorney fees has been denied in common pleas court in the case of John A. Myler against Avarilla Myler and others, which is an action in partition. In this case judgment has been entered against the Spring Grove Cemetery association of East Liver for the costs in the action.

Divorce Action Filed.
An action in divorce has been filed in common pleas court by Attorney E. L. Lyon of East Palestine on behalf of Kate Simon against her husband, John E. Simon. The petition charges habitual drunkenness and gross neglect of duty.

Deed Reformation Sought.
Reformation of a deed is sought in a petition filed in common pleas court by John D. McGowan, through his counsel George L. Lafferty of Lisbon against Loraine M. Bowman and Carl D. Bowman. Judgment for $64.12 is sought by the plaintiff against the defendants.

An error in the deed caused the plaintiff to pay a tax lien, although the defendants delivered to the plaintiff a warranty deed for lot No. 2 in Beans addition, Lisbon.

Haskin's Letter

agreed to the proposal. This country had advanced $15,000,000 to Greece. With interest at 5 per cent, that amounted to $19,659,836 as of January 1 next, the amount of new money to be advanced by our government in order to reach the amount advanced by Great Britain being $12,107,074.

That the United States was not on speaking terms with Greece for a considerable period was due to diplomatic exigencies resulting from changes in the government of Greece and in administrations in the United States. At no time has there been a spirit of hostility between this country and Greece.

It is well that Americans understand, also, that the new money which Greece is to receive from the United States is not to be used in paying war debts or anything of that sort. On the contrary, it is to be expended in rehabilitating the refugees that Greece has undertaken to care for since 1922, a million and a half in all. Most of the refugees have been settled on agricultural lands in Macedonia and other sections, but it has been found necessary to provide small industries that offer employment to women and children. The United States loan will be used to that end.

The loan is secured by what is in effect a lien upon Greek revenues amounting to about $28,000,000, so Secretary Mellon does not hesitate to say that it is "amply secured."

Anyway, it's going to be some job to convince thugs, who held up the business office of the University of Chicago and got away with $22,000, that education doesn't pay—Marion Star.

In spite of the success of motor buses in Ireland more people are using railroads than ever before.

Following the recent building boom, Alexandria, Egypt, now has 9,000 unoccupied flats.

MOST PITIFUL CASE

Mr. John S. Flanagan, 763 S. Adams St., Peoria, Ill., says:—In 1922 I had one of the worst cases of inflammatory rheumatism anyone could have, covering a period of five years, suffering terribly and constantly. Could not get around, even sit on crutches, unable to dress or undress myself. Tried everything known to medical science, including two trips to Hot Springs, without relief. Up to this time, had paid out over $1000, then like a miracle from Heaven, Qicko Wonder Liquid, was brought to me. I'm not exaggerating in stating that this remedy took me off my crutches in four weeks. Since it cured me, I personally know it has cured over 500 cases in Peoria, many like mine, chronic and given up.

Highs Play Alumni Cagers Tonight In First Home Contests

ELKS VICTORS OVER WELLSVILLE SQUAD

Potters Triumph in First Home Engagement Here by 46-29 Count After Trailing Foe in Initial Quarter.

Showing a reversal of form over their exhibition of the previous night, East Liverpool Elks copped their first county league game last night, 46 to 29, with the Wellsville Elks on the losing end.

Considering that it was the second game of the season for the local cagers and the first contest for the Wellsville lodgemen, both sides put up a good article of the floor sport.

The locals' passwork was superior to that of their rivals and with the exception of the earlier part of the first half, held the advantage.

The game during the first quarter was a nip and tuck affair as far as scoring went, the lead changing frequently. The Wellsville lodgemen were leading, 9 to 8, at the end of the period.

The contest during the second period was as close as it was in the first. Neither team could get more than a four-point lead during the first five minutes of the quarter.

With the score standing 17 to 13 against them the local Elks got busy. They soon evened up the count and with the score standing at 17 to 17, went on a scoring spree, caging four straight baskets, to give them the lead for the rest of the half. The half ended 26 to 20.

In the third period the Potters maintained their advantage, though not much scoring was done by either team. The Elks were in the lead, 32 to 24, when time was up for the period. During the final period the Ceramic unit easily maintained its lead and with the game sewed up, sent their reserves in, Crandall going in for Crawford and Kelly replacing Wilson. The game ended with the score 46 to 29.

To name one particular star for the local Elks in last night's game would be a hard matter, for all the first five put up an excellent article of basketball.

Crawford and McCutcheon played fine defense half. Wilson and Pusey went through their rivals' defense for six baskets apiece. Canine helped his team mates to victory by coming through with three field goals. All the local Elks that started the game took a hand in the scoring, Pusey being the scoring ace.

For Wellsville Teft and D. Scott were the bright lights, contributing the bigger part of their team's scoring. Todd, E. Scott and Kelly also performed well for Wellsville.

In the preliminary game the Sigma Deltas won from the De Bolt Wonders, 36 to 33, in a game that was fairly fast and somewhat rough. The Deltas had things their own way during the first half, leading 27 to 14. In the final half the Wonders outplayed their opponents, but the Deltas' lead was too big to overcome. Deidrick and Howard were the scoring luminaries for the Deltas, while De Bolt and McCutcheon played similar roles for the Wonders.

22 Rounds Of Boxing on F. O. E. Card

Four Bouts "All Set" for Monday Mitt Program.

TWENTY-TWO rounds of boxing have been billed by Matchmaker Tom McDonough for the Elks' smoker and mitt program to be given on Monday night, December 25, at the lodge arena, Broadway.

The four-round preliminaries, a six-round semifinal and an eight-round main bout have been listed for the second F. O. E. glove jamboree, which, in McDonough's opinion, will prove fully as much action as the initial session a couple of weeks ago which pleased about 500 fans who attended.

"Tag Phillips, one of 'Red' Mason's Pittsburgh proteges, has been matched with 'Pickels' Donohue in the wind-up attraction over the eight-round route. Both are welters and scrappers, rather than boxers.

Young Wallace, of Youngstown, who delivered eight rounds of action with Johnny Pollock in one of the feature attractions of the last show, is matched with Ernie Tont, of Midland.

Paul McCray, Wellsville amateur, who scored a technical K. O. in his first ring appearance here, is billed with Jack Covert, of East Liverpool, for four rounds, and Young Davis, of this city, meets Jimmy Checker, Wellsville's "fighting barber," in the four-round curtain raiser.

ing the first half, leading 27 to 14. In the final half the Wonders outplayed their opponents, but the Deltas' lead was too big to overcome. Deidrick and Howard were the scoring luminaries for the Deltas, while De Bolt and McCutcheon played similar roles for the Wonders.

Sport Review of 1927

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

HE effete east and the ambitious middle west were forced to stand by in August and watch the Pacific coast and south bask in the sport limelight.

True, the middle west drew some attention by virtue of the fact that the national amateur golf championship tourney was staged on the historic Minikahda links at Minneapolis and the east boasted of the setting for the national tennis tourney. But Bobby Jones, Atlanta born and bred, romped away with the golf honor and Helen Wills, native daughter of California, regained her tennis title on the Forest Hill courts.

Jones once more started poorly in tourney play, scoring a 75 for the play of the two rounds of medal play. He came through with a 67 for the second round, taking the medalist honors by three strokes.

H. had a narrow squeak in the early round against Maurice McCarthy, due mainly to a leisurely start. Then he defended successfully the Wightman trophy by defeating the British invader five matches to two. Mrs. Molla Mallory won the deciding match by defeating Joan Fry of England.

George Lott, young American star and conqueror of Bill Tilden earlier in the year, defeated Rene La Coste, outstanding ace of the French Davis cup team, in an invitation tourney at Southampton, N. Y. Tilden beat Lott in the finals of the same tourney, however.

Jack Dempsey issued a statement in which he predicted he would knock out Champion Tunney. But he didn't know about the long count.

MISS WILLS defeated Miss Josephine Crookshank, Mrs. Lillian Scherman, Hester, Mrs. John Hill, of England, and then Miss Kea Rowman, champion of Holland, in climbing to the semi-finals. She faced a sister Californian, Miss Helen Jacobs, in the semi-finals, while Mrs. Chaplin and Miss Betty Nuthall, young British star, fought it out in the other match.

Miss Wills and Miss Nuthall were the victors, but the young English miss was no match for Helen in the title match. Helen winning 6-1, 6-4, her powerful stroking beating down Miss Nuthall from the very start.

Tommy Armour added the Canadian open golf championship to his national open title. Mrs. Harry Pressler of Los Angeles, playing in her first major golf tourney, won the women's western golf championship by defeating Miss Bernice Wall.

The American team of tennis stars M'Graw-Terris Grudge Series To Continue Terris Strong Favorite for Third Number of Serial.

By Sid Mercer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Once more the intense rivalry between Sid Terris and Phil M'Graw breaks out in a rash of gloves tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Terris rules a strong favorite for the third number of this colorful lightweight series because of the fact that at the time he fouled M'Graw in their second encounter he was away out in front and apparently had the Detroit florist headed toward a fall.

On the face of things, the series is an even break. To be sure, M'Graw's victory was a negative one as he finished on the floor and Terris was disqualified for a low punch. On the other hand, M'Graw gave an excellent account of himself in the first clash.

Terris got up from the floor that time to win but to this day there is a decided difference of opinion on that decision. The venerable Paddy Malins, who manages M'Graw, still glowers at boxing writers who agreed with the official verdict and Paddy was never given to making squawks. He generally takes the breaks philosophically but he contends that M'Graw was the victim of a horrible miscarriage of queensberry justice that night in Brooklyn.

In the old days when Terris was a skilful jumping jack he was not a crowd pleaser. Nowadays he pulls plenty of patronage because he fights more, dances less and seldom goes through a bout without hitting the canvas.

CUB INFILDER BACK TO "FARM"

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—The veteran Jack Britton, once king of all the welterweights, has been signed for a bout here January 11 with Floyd Hybert, local welter.

The fight calls for eight rounds and will be staged as the semi-final to a scheduled Joe Glick-Johnny Farr feature.

DODGERS BOOK 24 EXHIBITIONS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Brooklyn Robins have booked a busy spring training campaign. They have listed twenty-four exhibition games.

The club announced that the pitchers and catchers have been ordered to report to the training camp at Cleveland on February 26, but the remainder of the players will not report until March 5.

napped and murdered a young girl, partly for revenge. The father had opposed his employment in a bank. Mr. Remus also killed partly for revenge, his wife had deceived him with another man.

There are different degrees of revenge, and of murder. Twelve jurors unanimously acquitted Remus. Not one juror in 100,000,000 would vote to acquit Hickman.

THE REVEREND DR. CADMAN remarks that "this planet may exist for nearly a million billion years longer." An anxious Christian asks "Do you believe that the soul sleeps in the grave with the body a million billion years waiting for the judgment?" If I really believed it, I think I should try to have a pretty good time while still in the flesh.

The Reverend Dr. Cadman, tells the inquiring soul that when you are unconscious a million billion years seems no longer than a minute and a half and tells the soul "It is better to awake from a prolonged torpor with clean recollections in your conscious past than as a moral idiot."

The child that "can't wait a week for Christmas, and the Christian that can't wait a million billion years for the judgment day" are both interesting, and both children mentally.

GREYHOUND racing in America has been less successful than in Europe. Fewer fools have bet on the racing, partly because the cheating was a little too apparent, partly because dogs running alone didn't seem exactly like a race.

That has been attended to and the betting simploton will probably enrich the game more generously.

SMALL monkeys have been trained to sit on the greyhounds' backs and pretend to be jockeys, to make it seem real.

Bettors please notice that those monkeys will ride in the races because they must. But, poor monkeys as they are, they would know better than to bet on those races.

THE law says railroads may earn such a percentage on their actual value. What they earn above that must be turned over to the government.

The St. Louis and O'Fallon railroad ordered to pay to the government under the "recapture law" $260,000 of excess earnings, naturally fights the payment.

Will "recapturing" excess profits work well?

Probably not, unless you change human nature. Higher salaries for officials, bigger prices for friends for supplies, steel rails, wheels, coal and greater extravagance generally would easily eat up the excess profits. Or, worse, railroads easily earning as much as governments would let them keep, would not be interested in developing greater efficiency, and more business, or in pleasing its customers.

MEMBERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers of western railroads will have their pay increased for Christmas, slightly, by an award of the Federal Arbitration Board. Passenger firemen get an increase of 30 cents, others in the union 35 cents a day. The men had asked for $1.

THE additional payment to about 35,000 men on 55 roads will amount to $19,000 a day. That money will be more usefully spent by men that take the risks and bear the responsibility of railroading, than it would be by stockholders taking no risk beyond the shock of occasionally looking at the stock ticker reports.

Lengel's case was taken before the supreme court by Harter who seeks a review of the court of appeals decision granting Lengel a new trial.

Rudner is asking his freedom on the ground that evidence against him warrants a verdict of first degree murder or acquittal.

AKRON, O., Dec. 23.—Mrs. Patricia O'Neil, widow of the late Michael O'Neil has been appointed executrix of the O'Neil estate, which today was estimated at $2,200,000.

O'Neil, who was chairman of the General Fire and Rubber company board of directors, died here a week ago.

MENJOU AGAIN WINS PLAUDITS

"Gentleman of Paris," Screen Play at Ceramic.

Adolphe Menjou is a man of affairs in his new Paramount picture, "A Gentleman of Paris" now at the Ceramic theatre.

However, men of affairs marry just like anyone else and when Menjou's time for matrimony rolls around all of his "affairs" with the exception of one, are painlessly and gracefully terminated.

What causes all the trouble, some of it laughable and some of it bordering on tragedy, is the affair Menjou was having with the wife of his own valet, although it must be explained that he was unaware of the cramer's marital status.

What is certainly a unique triangle is established. Here is Menjou involved with the wife of his own personal servant. The servant doesn't know just what to do about it, there seems to be no procedure covering the situation, and Menjou, at first, overcome by the development, later tries to laugh it off and has almost succeeded when the valet announces he is quitting.

This is the blow that staggers. The valet, Joseph, is a composite of all the perfections ever achieved by valets. Without him Menjou would be helpless, what with his wedding coming on and everything, and he not even knowing where his handkerchiefs are kept.

He finally talks the valet into giving the traditional eight days notice which no conscientious valet would think of refusing.

Although it is a marriage of convenience Menjou discovers himself suddenly rapturously and ecstatically in love with his bride to be, but over the impending nuptials there falls the sinister shadow of the wounded valet's revenge.

There is a card game at the big reception Menjou gives for his bride. Gambling is high and Menjou is paired against the husband of one of his past flames, who is winning so consistently that he is accused of cheating. He demands to be searched, is accommodated and sure enough there is an ace of hearts tucked up his sleeve, held by a cleverly sewed pocket arrangement.

For a man of the social status in which Menjou is represented, to be accused of cheating at cards is no laughing matter. A pall falls over the gathering and the general feeling is that about the only thing Menjou can do is commit suicide.

After Menjou has retired to the seclusion of his room to try to figure out how the card came to be in his sleeve, a shot rings out. The shot does not kill him. It only clears the atmosphere and brings him and his bride even closer together.

TILLIE SCORES AT THE STRAND

Marion Davies Stars in Famous Comic Strip
Picture.

"Tillie the Toiler," an exceptionally amusing comedy based on the famous Russ Westover comic strip, with Marion Davies in the title role, now showing at the American theatre.

Herbert Henley, director of "A Slave of Fashion," "His Secretary," "The Auction Block," and other screen hits has directed this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture with a cast that includes Matt Moore, Harry Crocker, George Fawcett, George K. Arthur, Bert Roach, Estelle Clark, Claire McDowell and others.

The picture celebrates Miss Davies' finest venture into pure comedy and proves her to be one of the screen's most delightful and talented comedienne. As Tillie, a thoughtless and frivolous eteno who wrecks havoc in business, Miss Davies is superb. Her costumes, of the flapper variety exaggerated to the verge of absurdity, will, it is prophesied, set new styles for flappers both on and off the screen.

The story is fast moving romance, containing pathos, humor and thrills in abundance.

CHAPTER XXV.

Now that they were actually coming, Bob felt that the whole thing was a mistake. He moved uneasily about the vast, softly-lighted living room, and tried vainly to vision Todd Shannon and Kathleen in that environment.

Peter Borden was seated in his favorite chair under the reading lamp, absorbed in the day's market news. He had said little, but Bob felt a surge of gratitude—the first hint of kindness toward the older man—when he saw that dinner clothes had been exchanged for this particular occasion. And Lois—all that Bob could tell was that she was simply and quietly dressed; he was too entirely a man to understand the hours of meticulous care which had gone into her toilet, nor could he know that she studied scrupulously every detail of her ravishing simplicity.

No one was happy or at ease. Borden's thin face was inscrutable; Lois was nervous. Bob was frankly regretful. His invitation to Todd and Kathleen had been a gesture of defiance—as he explained to Todd at the time. "They're bluffing, and I'm calling their bluff."

But they had not been bluffing, and Bob was impressed by their calm acceptance of the fact that they were spending the evening in their own home, with his former inmate and the niece of the ex-convict. Borden merely said that he was glad Bob had invited his friends; Lois actually was glad. This was her first—and only—opportunity to meet Kathleen Shannon, of whom she had heard so much. She was prepared to hate the girl—and to treat her nicely. After all, she was, in a certain way, an ally in the rehabilitation of Bob Terry.

Chiefly, however, Lois was curious. What manner of girl was this who was niece to an ex-convict and private secretary to the shrewdest political manipulator in the state? What was the bond between her and Bob?

Lois did not know exactly what she expected; a rather loud creature, of course, and one untutored in social niceties. All her life Lois had been sheltered from the ruder contacts; persons existing on Kathleen's plane had been creatures of hearsay whom she had never been sufficiently interested in to investigate. And Lois was entirely too human a person—and too wise a one—not to realize that in his first meeting under the eye of Bob Terry, she had all the advantages of her own background. She belonged

"Mister Borden Live Here?"

here in this modest luxury; Kathleen would be entirely out of her element at first. Todd violently opposed the visit. But to his amazement, Kathleen overruled him. And Todd was too ponderous a thinker to analyze her reasons.

Kathleen was engaged to Bob Terry—and with a woman's intuition she sensed a dangerous rival in Lois, not so much because of what Bob said about her as because of what he did not say. She, too, had noticed the change in him since regular work in Carmody's office had restored a measure of his self-respect. Before, he had avoided Lois just as he had avoided every one who might by any chance have patronized him. Now he was seeing more of her, and enjoying her companionhip.

What Kathleen believed was far from reassuring. She learned that in the old days Bob had worshipped Lois from afar—the attraction of the clerk for the beautiful daughter of his wealthy employer. That there had been nothing personal in their contact—that they had moved on different social planes—were things to worry about because the change had been so radical.

Now they were in daily contact in the intimacy of a home shared. She knew by hints from Bob that Lois was almost too vitally interested in his career. She was sufficiently well versed in masculine psychology to understand the tonic effect of association that Lois was dramatizing Bob beyond all reason, and she knew that he could not remain indifferent to her acceptance of him as an intimate.

And so she prepared for the visit in a spirit of desperation. She loved Bob with a love deeper than he could possibly understand. He had roused in her all the mother instinct and had fanned into flame the long dormant woman. He was a powerful and appealing figure, and he was her kind. She suffered with him, because she knew how deep the cut had been; she saw him as he was before he went to prison; responsive to the slightest impression. Even yet he was impressionable to an unusual degree, but only Kathleen truly understood the agony that he had suffered. And only she knew how he would inevitably respond to the influence of a girl who had once been a fairy dream.

The doorbell rang and Peter Borden rose. Bob again experienced a sense of gratitude toward the man whom he hated; he appreciated the thought which caused Borden to greet their guests instead of confronting them with the dignified figure of Croesus.

Bob and Lois followed the older man into the reception hall. They saw him open the door. Todd Shannon's tremendous figure bulked there. He was clad in a new and vivid suit of reddish brown and he was twisting a felt hat in his enormous hands.

"Mister Borden live here?" The host's hand came out. "I'm Borden. And this is Mr. Shannon, I believe."

Their hands clasped. A slow grin crossed Todd Shannon's lips. "Gosh-almighty! What a place you got here."

"Thank you," Borden was courteous and apparently very much at ease. He addressed the girl standing somewhat timidly in the background. "And this is Miss Shannon?"

"Yes, sir."

Borden bowed as they entered. Lois held back. Todd Shannon was just what she expected—a trifle more kindly of eye, perhaps—but she experienced a not unpleasant surprise at sight of Kathleen.

Kathleen was clad simply in a blue ensemble edged with the tiniest touch of silver ribbon. Her hat was a little thing of gray felt, tam-o'-shanter shape and set off by a bit of blue feather. The costume proclaimed taste and delicacy and Lois knew that she was looking at a woman who had more than beauty to recommend her.

Now Lois understood what Bruce Richardson had meant when he used the term "vivid" in describing Kathleen. She had fancied that he meant coarse or loud. She radiated refinement along with poise and self-confidence, and Lois was surprised to find that she was sorry for the girl's obvious embarrassment at this moment of meeting.

Lois was human—and genuine. She came forward eagerly, both hands outstretched and a smile of real welcome on her lips.

"This is Lois Borden, Miss Shannon."

The girls met eye to eye. And from that instant each admired the other. Lois was friendly. Whatever unworthy ambition she might have had to shine in Bob Terry's eyes by contrast with a rather blatant woman of another world was forgotten absolutely.

"I'm awfully glad to meet you, Miss Borden. Bob has spoken of you so often."

unpleasant and awkward. Now, as Borden adroitly led them into the living room and assumed charge of the conversation, Bob felt out of the picture, as though he were the only spectator at a little drama which he could not understand.

His greatest surprise was Todd Shannon. Todd was slow and heavy, as usual, but he was not at all embarrassed. He met Borden's conversational advances more than halfway. "I'm sorry you've never been here before, Mr. Shannon," vouchsafed Borden.

"Yes, sir." Again that slow, knowing grin twitched the corners of Todd's lips. "I ain't been out so very long."

Bob saw Kathleen flush, and was grateful when Lois interjected a quick remark.

"But you must come often. We've tried to make Bob understand that we'd like his friends to be ours."

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

NEW POWER.
 The new claim is made that science has found substances that transform light into electricity. If this claim proves true and a practical method is evolved, it would be hard to overestimate the value of the discovery. Little use digging coal or utilizing any other old-fashioned method to get power if electricity can be developed right out of the limitless light of the sun.

A BIG LOOK.
 Let's not imagine that our ways and habits and measurements are all there are in the universe. Our year, for example, has 365 days. But a year on the Moon has only 12 days and nights in it. On the planet Neptune, much farther from the Sun than the Earth is, the year is 165 times as long as ours. A Neptune girl, born 2,800 years ago, as we measure time, would be only 17. A reasonable courtship on the planet Neptune, measured as we measure time, might last 200 years.

The Universe wasn't made for man or for the Earth and its beings exclusively. A flake of sawdust in one of the Great Lakes represents the Earth in relation to the other bodies that whirl through the measureless space of the Universe.

ELECTRONS.
 "God made electrons to be his assistants in the creation of the universe," says Michael Pupin, famous teacher at Columbia university. "It is the service of the electron which carries the human voice around the globe; it carries the power from coal mines and mountain streams to our homes and makes us comfortable. It pulls our trains."

But nobody knows where when and how electrons, the smallest units of matter, were made. Once solve that mystery and science will have solved the riddle of life and the universe. Who made electrons? When, how, and above all, WHY?

THINGS WE SHOULD KNOW.
 Here are six questions which can be answered by any encyclopedia. Many of us will not know the answers but all of them are information which the average man and woman should know—if the average is going to be what it ought to be.

- 1—Is the Darwinian theory that man and the higher apes spring from some common, but unknown ancestor, accepted by the greater scientists?
- 2—Who painted the Mona Lisa and where is the painting?
- 3—What are the colors of the Baltimore Oriole?
- 4—How does one reach Palestine?
- 5—Which planet is nearest the sun?
- 6—Who were the Pilgrims?

How the Other Half Behaves

Dog Tried on Murder Charge.
 MOUNT STERLING, Ky.—Kaiser Bill, a German police dog, property of Mrs. Henry Gay, appeared in Judge

Senff's court, charged with killing some sheep. After ten witnesses had been heard, Bill was found guilty and sentenced to death. Mrs. Gay entered an appeal, and the dog was placed under $300 bond. Kaiser Bill was in the courtroom during his trial. He was defended by Attorney W. B. White. The dog was formally placed under arrest by Sheriff W. B. Robinson.

Sold Pigeons Return.
 NEW YORK CITY.—Pigeons which refused to stay sold multiplied troubles for Harry Gross. Ordered to get rid of his collection of grown-up squabs by the health department, he sold them up the river to a man in Mount Pleasantville. But the pigeons promptly returned. Gross got a summons and Magistrate Ewald fined him $5 for maintaining a nuisance. Contending that he cannot influence the birds' habits, he refused to pay the fine.

Owners of automobiles in Paris are complaining against the system of service stations in placing damaged cars in storage and sending to the factory for necessary parts instead of keeping them in stock.

Great Britain has only one automobile for every 26 persons.

GOLD STANDARD STABILIZES LIRA

ROME, Dec. 23.—Italy was back to the gold standard in currency today and throughout the nation the press extolled Premier Mussolini for this financial move.

The stabilization of the lira was effective at midnight and followed a two and a half hour emergency cabinet meeting called suddenly by Premier Mussolini last night. The Italian lira is now on a basis of 19 to the dollar; 92.46 to the pound sterling, and 3.75 to the gold lira. Sixteen months ago the lira was down to the low exchange rate of 150 to the pound.

Lisbon Man Granted Bicycle Skate Patent

Frank B. Fisher Receives Christmas Present From Santa Claus at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The patent office Santa Claus went visiting again today and as a result Frank B. Fisher, Lisbon, will find a patent among his Christmas presents.

The invention for which he was awarded a patent is a bicycle skate. He had to wait only a year for Santa Claus to decide that he should have the patent, his application having been filed January 21, 1927. The patent is assigned.

The patent office Santa Claus uses big words in describing the patent. Here's how he tells about it:

"A skate comprising a flat base member, a pair of spaced parallel arms extending from each end of said member, a wheel journaled in each pair of arms, a heel receiving member extending upwardly from one end of the base member, said base member having a longitudinally extending slot in its opposite end, a securing

The bulletin headed "25,000 Reward" carry a detailed description of William Edward Hickman, suspected kidnaper-slavey of Marion Parker, his photographs, finger prints and handwriting; portions of letters signed "George Fox," a resume of the atrocious crime, together with a description and photograph of the slayer's card.

strap carried by the heel receiving member, a toe cap mounted on said member and a securing bolt extending through the cap and through the longitudinally disposed slot to adjustably secure the toe cap to the base."

Lima War Vet Wants to Wed Newell Widow

Answers Matrimonial Publication Ad Which Says Woman "Has $10,700 and Expects to Inherit More."

John W. Hall, 41, World war veteran, of Lima, wrote The Review-Tribune today in an effort to locate a "lovely widow of the modern type," residing in Newell, who, he claims, is seeking "a good man."

From a matrimonial publication, Hall learned of the "widow," who describes herself as 33 years of age, five feet two inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, gray hair, gray eyes and stout figure. The woman says she has "a fair education, $10,700 and expects to inherit more." She expresses a willingness "to live anywhere."

Hall, whose address is Box 585, says he is five feet six inches tall, has brown hair mingled with gray and gray eyes. He is drawing government compensation as a result of his war experience, his letter states.

Tells of Sacred King.
In the memoirs of Sir Douglas Dawson, one of the season's new books, appears a sad story of the young King Alexander of Serbia, who was horribly done to death in his palace with a few years after Sir Douglas interviewed him. Writing of that interview, he says: "From the moment the young king entered the room I discovered in him a nervousness which at first I failed to understand. Suddenly, silently, even furtively, he appeared from between the folds of heavily-draped curtains and at first he seemed too nervous to speak. The king remained during the whole interview in close proximity to the curtain, with his back turned to it, while at intervals glancing behind him. It eventually dawned on me that terror of assault was the dominant state of mind of this poor monarch, not yet out of his teens; and I had no doubt that behind that curtain was concealed some source of assistance."
